Hunky Brad Pitt was looking very much the dapper gent on the Canadian set of The Assassination Of Jesse James this week, togged out in a period frockcoat, complete with top-hat and cane.

He was a lone cowboy on the Winnipeg shoot however, as constant companion Angelina Jolie was nowhere to be seen.

Though Brad recently visited Angelina and her children while she was filming in New York, this time the actress couldn't return the favour as commitments kept her in the Big Apple. Elegant in a grey sequined gown, the mother-of-two attended the Worldwide Orphans Foundation gala benefit escorted by her brother James Haven.

Although Angelina and Brad have preferred to maintain a discreet silence on their relationship the rest of the world seems convinced they're an item.
So much so, the A-list pair have now been immortalised on canvas in a painting by famous American pop artist, Robert Delgadillo. The picture, which sees the photogenic couple portrayed as Adam and Eve, is called Temptation.
